A tradition my family does every year after a big snowfall is making snowmen. First we make three big snowmen usually in the front yard. Next my parents get the decorations. Mom gets the carrot and a scarf. Dad gets the marker and a broom. Then we stack the balls on top of each others. Everyone takes turns. My brother puts on the eyes and mouth. Mom puts on the hat and scarf. I stick the broomstick in his hand. Last we take a picture of the snowman. Viola! A Snowman.

What is Saint Joseph's Day? Saint Joseph's Day is a tradition for the Italians. It is important to them. First we wear red on March 19th every year. They don't show it on TV because it's not common in North America but in Italy they really celebrate it. Saint Joseph was a nice man because he was Mary's husband. At home we eat pasta to celebrate Saint Joseph's Day. We have a big party and watch T! It's so fun! I love Saint Joseph's Day because we get to celebrate Jesus' dad!

A tradition that my family does is taking turns going to one of my grandmas' houses on Thanksgiving. First, we drive to one of my grandma's houses. Next, we take off our shoes and coat. Then we wash our hands and eat a turkey dinner. Finally, we play a game like Scrabble and watch some football. I just love to have family fun!

Gavin
Grade 2

Where do you go on Thanksgiving? My favorite tradition is going to my cousin's house on Thanksgiving. My cousins live in Florida. First we eat turkey, mashed potatoes, corn and sweet potatoes. My favorite part about Thanksgiving dinner is eating turkey with corn. The part that I don't like is their dogs always takes out food or barks at us. Then after we eat dinner I play video games with my brother and cousin. We play a football game. Finally I go home. I like Thanksgiving because I get to see my cousins.

One of my traditions at my house is making sugar cookies every year when Santa comes. First, I take the cookie dough out of the fridge and we put it on the cookie sheet. Next we put it in the oven and wait for a minute. Then we take it out of the oven. We put sprinkles on top of the sugar cookies. Finally, we put them on the table so all of the cookies can all dry off so that Santa can eat the sugar cookies. I hope Santa loves them!

My favorite tradition is on Christmas Eve. My family goes to my grandma's house. Santa comes and he gives presents and fills our stockings. We eat chicken it is my favorite food. But before we eat we say Grace. Then we have "cheers!" It is fun! Next we wait for Santa. My sister and I help give out the presents. I like giving the more then getting them. Santa is very nice. We get cool stuff. He lets me hold his bells. Then Tessa gets them next year. Tessa and I like to jingle them. They go jingle, jingle. Finally we have dessert and we have hot chocolate.

A tradition I have is visiting my mom's side of the family on Christmas Eve. First, we walk into my Grandparents' house. Then, more of my family arrives. Next, everybody's there and the adults play grab bag. "Boring!" After we open every single present, I usually play with mine. Finally, we have dinner and continue with our gifts. It is always very fun.

My Family Traditions

My family tradition is that every Christmas Eve I go to my Grandma's house with presents and PJ's. My family and I play some games and chat. Then we have dinner and dessert-yum! Then the kids get their PJ's on. Then my Aunt puts a CD on the T.V. that makes it look like a fireplace.

Then by youngest to oldest we open presents from our secret Santa. My cousins and I also watch a Santa tracker. The worst part is leaving. I look forward to it every year!

One of my traditions at my house is making gingerbread houses. First I take big crackers and frosting. Then I take a spoon and rub the frosting on the big crackers. Next I put the crackers own on the table. Then I take the bog crackers that don't have frosting on it and build a house with the crackers. After that I take the crackers with the frosting on it and build the door. Next I take pink or light blue frosting and rub it on the crackers that don't have frosting on it. Finally, I draw with purple or dark blue frosting and make the windows and decorations. It makes me fell happy because I love to make gingerbread houses.

My favorite holiday tradition is always celebrating Christmas Eve with my family. There is always delicious food such as sweet cakes and cookies, yummy Italian beef sandwiches and a lot of other foods. We do fun games and play with our cousins, but my favorite part is giving and opening all the gifts we have for each other. Afterwards, we go home and get cookies and milk ready for Santa. Then we hurry to get our pajamas on and go to sleep so Santa will bring us presents on Christmas morning.

Olivia
Grade 4

My holiday traditions are always making chocolate chip cookies for Santa Claus! Chocolate Chip Cookies are my all time favorite! Mmm! I could just taste them right now! My other holiday tradition for Christmas is my whole family comes and had a Christmas Party and we decide who's house it is going to be at. I have lots of traditions, I know, but here is an exciting one every year at our Thanksgiving Feast at my Grandma's. We write all of our names on a piece of paper and put it into a bowl then all the parents reach their hands in the bowl and whatever names they get those are the kids we have to do Christmas shopping for. So when we have the Christmas Party on Christmas Eve, we can open those gifts! My last but not least favorite tradition is putting up stockings and putting up the beautiful tree! I always put up a tree no matter what! I never ever forget about the tree! Now I have one more tradition, and I promise this is the last one. My last holiday tradition is trying to put up the prettiest lights ever!! We try to beat our neighbor's lights. We always beat them! Well, that's all my holiday traditions and we do it every year I can't wait to do them this year!!!

My Holiday Tradition

On Christmas Eve, My mom and I go to my aunt's house where all the fun begins. My aunt cooks this crazy long meal and we eat for more than 2 hours! But then, when we are finished eating that belly-busting meal, we wait for 12:00 in the morning, or Christmas Day, we open gifts. We make a circle around the dining room and put the presents in order. Than when we are done with opening gifts my mom and I go home. Than we go to bed and then wait for Santa to bring gifts to our house. When we wake up, we open more gifts. Than we wait for New Year. Then the party begins. We take on the year and we start all over again. Merry Christmas!!

Our Family Traditions

The day after Thanksgiving our family puts up all of our Christmas decorations. Some of our favorites are the Christmas tree, Santa's train, Disney Christmas tree, the silly snowmen, and the outside decorations. Next, we make a gingerbread house. We put candy and icing everywhere on the house and make a path for Santa to get in.

A few weeks before Christmas, our family makes many different kind of cookies. These are a few of our favorite ones: peanut butter and jelly, biscotti, kolachy's, sugar cookies, ice-box cookies, and fun shaped cut-outs. On Christmas Eve, we go to church and then go to our Aunt's house for dinner. We open presents and play with our cousins. On Christmas Day, we wake up early to see what Santa brought for us. Then our Grandpa comes over for dinner and presents.

Traditions are not always holiday or season related... like traditions in writing.

In class, Room 206 has been learning about roots, prefixes, and suffixes. We learned that the root 'struct' means to build. Then we brainstormed words and thought of stories.

There once was an indestructible building in the land far, far away. Nobody could deconstruct it. If it ever fell down (that hasn't happened) it would reconstruct by itself. It never had an obstruction. One day a wise instructor said we should keep away from the building if we wanted to be safe. Nobody listened we all went back to the building. Then out of nowhere the building fell down onto them. The structural metal hit them on their heads. Looks like the indestructible building is destructible after all. After that everyone listened to the wise instructor and far, far away was safe forever.

Rachel A.

While I was walking through the hardware store, I saw a group of constructors listening to an instructor. I overheard them talking about how to construct an indestructible structure. I have to reconstruct my birdhouse, so I might as well go over to listen. Well, I must have misheard them because they were aliens disguised as constructors trying to make a plan to deconstruct the earth. Here's a heads up: move to Mars before the aliens destroy the earth.

Kasia and Olivia

Once upon a time there was an instructor who had a very lovely life until one day when she was teaching her class she heard a rumbling noise! She did not know there was construction today over at school. She got so worried she ran back to her home structure. But as she looked out her window she saw construction workers deconstructing the next structure. She felt silly. So, she went back to class and started teaching again! The children laughed!

Emily and Larissah

There once was an indestructible dolphin named Dolphiny. He was born in a nuclear wasteland. So he had an obstructed beak. Andrew, Brandon, and Timmy were his owners. They were very sad because he couldn't eat. So they tried to reconstruct his beak. But we failed. So, we hired a dolphin training instructor to help Dolphiny regrow his beak, naturally. And the instructor was successful! No, Dolphiny can eat all the delicious fish he wants.

Brandon, Timmy and Andrew

One day there was a kid who constructed an indestructed cookie. No one was able to deconstruct the cookie. The instructor of the factory reconstructed the cookie. The two cookies obstructed the highway. Bob, the kid, who was the only one to stop the cookies from taking over the world. Then they blew up and made a lot of tiny cookies.

Nico, Luke, and Kelli

One day billy Bob Joe instructed his workers to make an indestructible 72 pound triple whopper with extra sauces. Then he deconstructed a 5000 pound steak building. He made his buildings with extra cheese patties and structural objects.

The next day of construction there was an obstruction that blocked his way going to work. He tried to eat it but it tasted bad. Then he found a detour to work. He got to work and started to build. He had to reconstruct a building but it fell down in a pile of mayo and sunk.

Joey S., Nicky, and Guy

The instructor was making a big structure so there will be a lot of construction. The walls of obstruction will protect it from any harm. The buildings around it are indestructible. So they better be careful in storms.
