In my opinion, the best superpower to have would be to make things happen by thinking of it. One reason is that I can make sure I get 100% on homework and work. This is helpful this way because then if I make one mistake, I can fix it. Another reason is that if I am cold, I can make the place I am at or myself warm. This would be helpful because in winter, when I am cold, I can make my house and my family warm. Another reason I would want this superpower would be if I want an allowance, I could think of it and I will get an allowance. This would be helpful because then there will be a reason to do chores for me. A fourth way I would want this would be I would be able to catch a lot of footballs. This would be helpful because I play football a lot, so I would catch a lot of footballs when I play. The last speculation I would want the super power would be that having things happen by thinking of it is the biggest superpower of them all. This is true because if you want to rewind time, just think of rewinding time and it happens. If you want to teleport, just think of teleporting and it happens. You can do the same with other superpowers. All in all, I think the superpower of having things happen by thinking of it would be the best superpower of all.

You're my Superhero

I would love to be a superhero. If I was a superhero my power would be a shapeshifter. Shape shifting can help me conquer my fears, save money, and help me study the things I love.

The first reason why I would like to have the power of the shapeshifter is because I love the ocean but I am afraid that something might hurt me or worse. But if I was a shapeshifter I can turn into a shark and see the beauties of the water and fish, my lifelong dream. I would love to swim with fish, see an actual community of coral and see so much more. Also, if I turn into a fish I can talk to the fish, if I turn into a shark I can talk with sharks, and if I turn into a manatee I can talk to manatees. Exploring the underwater world would be awesome. Another reason why I would want to be a shapeshifter is because it teaches hunters or farmers a lesson. I would change into the animal and go close to hunters. Then whatever animal I am in would get shot or harpooned, but then I would transform back and they would see they shot a kid. So then after, they would learn that you should value animals like humans because we are animals. The last reason why I want to be a shapeshifter is because it can help me study nature more. I love nature so much. It would be cool if I turn into a flower and see if it hurts if I get picked. I would be nice to see how birds feel flying freely. I can also listen to nature to figure out what animals are saying like, if a dog is thirsty, or if a bird is calling for help.

Having shapeshifter powers would be amazing. The best power to be exact. It would let me feel how animals feel and I can save them from horrible deaths. It would be a big improvement for the world and even people.

CONTROLLING TIME

In my opinion, controlling time would benefit my life greatly. First of all, you would never have to worry about forgetting homework or losing belongings. I would be able to go back in time and do my homework and get it done last second. Say if I lost my phone, I could go back in time and grab it from where I last remember seeing it. I could also stop bad things from happening like 9/11. You could shoot down the plane and stop those people from dying. You could also live life over and over again. Finally, you could learn about stuff that people have limited to no knowledge about. You could go back in time and look at how the earth was created and learn about earlier species. The one superpower which would benefit me the most would be controlling time, probably to make you read this over and over again.

If I could have any superhero power in the world it would be to shrink. One reason why I would want to be able to shrink is because when you shrink you would be able to fit in tiny spaces. When you are able to fit in tiny places you can reach things that others can't. For example, when a coin falls behind a cabinet you normally can't reach where it fell but if you are able to shrink you can go get it. Another reason is if you are able to shrink I can sneak around without anybody hearing me but if I was regular size everyone could hear me . For example, I have cookies and I can't have them I can shrink and no one would see or hear me. One last reason why I would want to shrink is because if I want to take something no one could see me and whatever I touch will turn to my size. For example, I want to take a candy from a cabinet and other people are where you are they would never see that candy is missing if it is really tiny. These are my reasons why I would want to have the superpower to shrink.

Changing time

If I had only one superpower it would be to change time. I would want to change time because what if I got a bad score on a test, actually lots of them? I would get a bad grade on my report card and then my parents would yell at me. But if a could change time I could fix all of those tests, I could redo them for a better score and then eventually a better grade. Also, what if you don't want to go to school anymore? You can skip time and go to the future where you have a life out of school. Or you want to see how your life will turn up later in life? You can skip ahead and check it out. Also, what if you are older and forgot your amazing memories as a kid, you could go back in time and check back to see all those amazing things. Last you can see your death if you want to. Maybe you could look at it and then change your lifestyle so that won't happen. After all changing time is the best superpower because looking into the future or changing the past is so amazing.

If I could have a superpower for one day I would want super speed. I would want this because if I was hungry I could go to a Mcdonalds and pick up food very fast. I could also win every race I race and I have a scooter so I can make that go like 100 MPH without crashing. If I wanted to like riding a bike or something I could move my legs really fast so my bike would go very fast. My superhero name would be the Streak because people would only see a streak go past them when I run. That would be my superpower, what would be yours?

In my opinion, if I had a super power for one day it would be teleporting. First of all, I can teleport from place to place without any noticing where i'm going to like if i was going to the bathroom. Second, if I don't want to walk I can just teleport anywhere without walking and running and I won't need any transportation vehicles. Last of all, I will be able to get away from people that are trying to catch me like if was playing tag and i can save the day for saving the day from robberies. This is why teleportation is great superpower for me.

If I had a superpower it would be teleporting, Because say you got in trouble you can teleport away. Also you can really get what you won't if you think about it. Than you can be rich and people won't know but I wouldn't steal of course. I would ask because I'm not a villain. I would always save the day. Also if someone needed something it will take me only a sec to get that thing. I wouldn't use my superpower for myself I will help people in need and do what it takes to save the world. I would be the greatest superhero of all time.

Changing Time

I think that being changing time would be better because if I would get a bad grade than I could go back in time and get a better grade. Changing time would also help because I could go in the future and see what could happen. I would want to see what could be in the future and the inventions. I would want to see all the other things that would happen. Also I would like to see how little I was in the past. Changing time would also help because if you would do something bad and get yelled at then you could go back in time and do it correctly. If I would do something wrong and I would want to fix it but I couldn't then I would be mad so I would go back in time and fix it and try to get a better grade.

Extra Bounce Power

If I could have one super hero power for one day, I would choose to have Extra Bounce Power! With extra bounce power, I can get my back tuck on the floor without any help. My gymnastics teammates and coach will be super surprised! It'll feel like I can fly!

Another reason extra bounce is helpful is you can jump higher than anyone in the world! Then I will be in the Guinness world records and I WILL BE RICH!!! Also It can help me in soccer. When the ball flies super high and I can't reach it, I can jump and catch the ball. No one will be scoring on me! So in conclusion I think if I could choose one super hero power for a day, it would be Extra Bounce Power!

Teleportation

If I could have a superpower for one day it would be Teleportation. Teleportation would help me get out of my parents' punishments when they are yelling at me. You would probably say "oh well won't your parents know you have teleportation if you do it right in front of them". Yes they will know that I have it but they won't know where I went, and that is another reason I could Teleport to disneyland. On the bright side I get to see Donald Duck. You know how people at mcdonalds say "no food in the play place". Well my final reason is I could go Teleport to mcdonalds, order my french Fries and eat them in the play place. So nobody knows that I am eating them there (of course I paid for them). I think Teleportation is a great superpower, and will come in really handy in many situations.

If you could have a superpower for one day what would it be and why do you think it is the best superpower? In my mind, the best superpower would be to spawn water bottles out of thin air. I get really thirsty a lot and so it would help me by not always spending money on water bottles. If someone was thirsty I could give them water. I'm really, really lazy and I don't feel like getting up that way I won't miss stuff in games. That is why I think that spawning water bottles out of thin air is the best superpower. Or an alternative turn into thanos!

My superpower is to spawn oreo frappuccinos from starbucks. It can help me because when I am playing fortnite and in a match and I get thirsty I can say a word and it would appear. When I wake up a can spawn a frappuccino next to me. My third reason is I'm tired and I don't want to get all that I can spend it when next to me. The last reason is, it's good for me is because I could give Frappuccinos to the poor. It is a good superpower because it can help people if there thirsty and don't have money to buy drinks and it can help people get up after a nap.

These are some reasons why ice would be the best power for me. First I could put fires out and save people from fires. Also i can make things that need to be froze extra fast,I can make snow for others if I think of it. I can make anything out of ice like a giant snow castle And i can make things cold like water or lemonade i can make cold. These are some reasons why ice would be the best power for me.

Bobby

My superpower would be to control night the moon and stars because I do not like the dark so I can get the stars to light it up. When i would play hide and seek i can make it dark so I can stay in the shadows. I can keep the night longer so I can sleep more. Controlling night the moon and stars is exciting it is the best superpower ever.

Invisibility

In my opinion, the best superpower to have would be invisibility. First of all, people can't see me. I could win every game of hide and seek! If I got in trouble I could turn invisible and no one would be able to find me. Also I won't have to do chores. If no one could see me I wouldn't have to clean the dishwasher or do my laundry. Another reason why I would want to have the superpower invisibility is that I can go anywhere without anyone knowing. I could go to my friends house and be back without anyone noticing I was gone because I would be invisible. Also I could get ice cream at Dairy Queen and my parents wouldn't know. In my opinion, the best superpower would be invisibility.
